PRESS RELEASE

On July 2, 2013, Whitehall Police responded to the area of Mountain and McCotter streets for a report of a small child wandering through the area, unclothed. Police located the child a short time later, who was in the care of neighbors. Police returned the child to his residence, located on an adjacent street.

Following a brief investigation, Police charged Michel Juckett, 26, of Potter Street, Whitehall, with the following:

- Endangering the Welfare of a Child – Class A Misdemeanor

Juckett reported she had “turned her back” on the child for a brief time and noticed the child was missing and sent household members out to locate him.

Juckett was issued an appearance ticket to appear in Whitehall Village Court at a later date. The case was referred to Washington County Child Protective Services for further investigation.

The case was handled by Chief Matthew Dickinson and Patrolman Christopher Kyne.
